●Aim of the Course

This course aims to provide a basic knowledge of Japanese which will enable students to function effectively in everyday life.

●Course Prerequisites

Prerequisite subjects for this course are Integrated Japanese 1 and Japanese Language Seminar (Communication) 1. Those who register for this course should also register for the Japanese Language Seminar (Communication) 2 in the same semester.

●Course Content

①Students will learn comprehensive Japanese, necessary to live both on and off campus.

Each lesson will cover new grammar, expressions and vocabulary (including Hiragana, Katakana and Kanji). A short test will be given each lesson.

②Students are required to read textbooks (especially "Elementary Japanese 2 DAICHI Translation of the Main Text and Grammar Notes") as preparation for each lesson.

●Course Evaluation Methods

Attendance 30%, Class Participation 30%, Mid-term Examination and Final examination 40%

●Notice for Students

Students must maintain course attendance rates of 80% or higher and are required to take mid-term and final examination. Those who fail to meet these requirements will not earn credits.

Students are not permitted to withdraw from this course for any reason after the registration.

In general, in the case of absence, make-up tests and examinations will not be possible (except in the case of extenuating circumstances). Three late arrivals or early departures of 15 minutes or more will be regarded as a one-lesson absence.

●Aim of the Course
This course aims to provide a basic knowledge of Japanese which will enable students to function effectively in everyday life. It emphasizes oral practice utilizing the material students learned in Integrated Japanese 2. This course also covers the reading and writing of simple sentences. The textbooks are the same as Integrated Japanese 2.

●Course Prerequisites
The prerequisite subjects for this course are Integrated Japanese 1 and Japanese Language Seminar (communication) 1. Those who register for this course should also register for Integrated Japanese 2 in the same semester.

●Course Content
①Each lesson will cover grammar, expressions and vocabulary learned in Integrated Japanese 2 and practiced in short skits. Reading and writing are also covered. A short test will be given each day.
②Students are required to read textbooks (especially "Elementary Japanese 2 DAICHI Translation of the Main Text and Grammar Notes") as preparation for each lesson.

●Course Evaluation Methods
Attendance 30%, Class Participation 30%, Mid-term Examination and Final examination 40%

●Aim of the Course

This course aims to educate students in the social sciences and humanities about current social, economic and political issues in contemporary Japan, as well as to foster critical inquiry, analysis and debate. Rather than a traditional lecture, this course is structured as a student-centered, academic simulation of the Japanese House of Representatives (lower house of the National Diet), or Model Diet. Each student participant will be expected to role-play as a legislator, according to an assigned party affiliation and background profile. Student responsibilities will include researching select domestic or foreign relations issues, working in pairs to prepare and present six brief position papers, engaging in debate over proposed bills, voting on bills, and finally, reporting to constituents.

●Course Prerequisites

First Year Seminar A.

●Course Content

Week 1: Course Overview
Week 2: History of the Japanese Diet
Week 3: Japanese Legislative Politics Post-1993
Week 4: Student Presentations
Week 5: Overview of domestic issues facing contemporary Japan
Week 6: Drafting of Bills, Committee Review
Week 7: Model Diet, Session 1: Introduction of bills, Position paper presentations, Debate, and Vote
Week 8: Model Diet, Session 2: Introduction of bills, Position paper presentations, Debate, and Vote
Week 9: Model Diet, Session 3: Introduction of bills, Position paper presentations, Debate, and Vote
Week 10: Overview of international issues facing contemporary Japan
Week 11: Drafting of Bills, Committee Review
Week 12: Model Diet, Session 4: Introduction of bills, Position paper presentations, Debate, and Vote
Week 13: Model Diet, Session 5: Introduction of bills, Position paper presentations, Debate, and Vote
Week 14: Model Diet, Session 6: Introduction of bills, Position paper presentations, Debate, and Vote
Week 15: Final Report Presentations

●Course Evaluation Methods

The final grade for the course will be determined according to six categories of assessment, outlined in the paradigm below. Participation (30%) will be assessed according to contributions made during committee work (such as bill drafting) and Model Diet sessions (involvement in discussion and debate). As a member of an assigned committee, each student will be responsible for researching issues, drafting bills, presenting introductions of bills during sessions, and presenting position papers in support of bills introduced by his or her committee. Bills are brief (approximately 250-500 word) pieces of proposed legislation that students will co-author with members of assigned committees. Bill Introductions (20%--2@10% each) are brief (approximately 500-750 word) summaries of bills proposed by one's assigned committees. Position Papers (20%--2@10%) are brief (approximately 500-750 word) essays that present opinions about issues, and argue for or against proposed bills. The presentation (10%) is a brief (approximately seven-minute) presentation about the legislator that you will be role-playing over the course of the semester. The exam (5%) consists of twenty multiple-choice questions about the Japanese Diet and Postwar and Contemporary Japanese Politics.

The Final Report (10%) is a brief (500-750 word) report, addressed to one's own constituency, which explains and defends bills that you have proposed and votes that you have cast over the course of the semester. The final reports will be presented on the final day of class.

	% of grade
Participation	30%
Presentation (Week 4)	10%
Exam (Week 5)	5%
Bill Introductions (2 @ 10% each)	20%
Position Papers (2 @ 10%)	20%
Final Report	15%

●Notice for Students

1) I am committed to making this course a rewarding academic experience for you, and not simply another "required" course. Please feel free to approach me after class or during my scheduled office hours (TBA) if you have questions about the material, assigned projects, or other, related concerns. If you contact me by e-mail, please allow 24 hours for a reply.
2) In the interest of fostering a student-centered learning environment, various teaching methods will be employed in this class. While lecture is one component, there will also be small group discussions and Model Diet sessions, during which students will be expected to share knowledge, insights and opinions about specific issues. Active participation will be key to the learning process and to your success in this course.
3) Attendance and punctuality are critical to your success in this course. Please arrive to class on time, and prepared to engage in class discussions and other in-class exercises. Excessive absenteeism and tardiness will result in a reduction of your final grade.
4) Courtesy: In order to create a comfortable learning environment for all, students are expected to observe a few rules of common courtesy in class. Please do not hold private conversations with neighbors during class discussions or lectures. Please turn off mobile phones, portable video game players, and other electronic devices before entering the classroom. If you need to use a computer for note-taking, accessing online readings or viewing of presentations, please be discrete. Students found using computers inappropriately during class will be prohibited from using them for the remainder of the semester.
5) Academic Integrity: Students in this course are expected to abide by basic tenets of academic integrity. Specific guidelines will be given before exams, written reports, and other exercises to clarify what this entails in concrete terms. Additionally, a detailed rubric describing standards for citation and other aspects of academic writing will be provided to students on the first day of class. Students with questions about what constitutes plagiarism, for example, are welcome to discuss them with me at any point before or during the writing process. Any student found guilty of cheating, plagiarism, or other forms of academic dishonesty will be held accountable for their actions. Particularly serious breaches of academic integrity will result in a failing grade for the entire course, and in some cases, all courses taken in a given semester.
6) Permission to Enroll in the Course: Students who would like to enroll in the course after the semester has begun should contact me no later than April 26th to express their interest. Permission will be granted to students who have attended at least one of the first three class meetings.
7) Notification of Course Withdrawal: Students who choose to withdraw from the course must submit the required "Course Withdrawal Request Form" by the designated deadline. Failure to submit this form may result in a final grade of "F" for the course.

Textbook	No required textbooks to purchase. All readings will be made available on the first day of class.

●Aim of the course

The aim of this course is to read and discuss Japanese diaries along with learning more about academic research and writing methods. Students will learn how to effectively search for resources using the library facilities on campus as well as electronic databases. We will discuss how to evaluate resources; is it outdated, biased, or inaccurate? Students will produce a research paper using the research methods we have covered and will receive feedback on their writing. These core abilities will be necessary in future classes and careers.

●Prerequisites

I do not expect students taking this class to have any prior knowledge of Japanese literature or culture. All reading assignments will be in English and the final research paper will be written in English. This course will focus on improving research and writing methods, so students of any level can participate.

●Course contents

This course covers diaries from the earliest period to the modern day and includes both diaries written by Japanese and by foreigners visiting Japan. The course introduces some of the most famous classical diaries; Murasaki Shikibu and Izumi Shikibu's diaries, and some less familiar diaries, including the diary of the nun Abutsu-ni, the tale of a Japanese ship captain who drifted all the way to America and travel diaries by foreign women visiting Japan. We will compare these diaries to the use of social media, including Facebook, Instagram and Twitter, to chronicle lives in the 21st century.

Classes will include discussion on the texts, short presentation by a student, and information about the library facilities on campus, research methods, and writing instructions. Students will be assigned reading for every class period and are expected to be prepared to participate in class discussion.

●Evaluation methods

Attendance and Participation: 30%, Weekly Assignments: 20%, Class Discussion Leader: 20%, Final Paper 20%. Extra credit assignments will be available.

●Notice for students

Students must submit a Course Withdrawal Request Form when student has no intention of finishing this course.

● Aim of the Course:
The aim of this course is to deepen the understanding of calculus and to cultivate the ability to apply mathematical knowledge. The course is mainly intended for students taking Calculus II.

● Course Prerequisites:
Some notions on functions of one variable, as seen in Calculus I. A basic knowledge of linear algebra will be an asset.

● Course Content:
Exercises sheets will be provided each week before the tutorial, and will be available on the web site of the course. Homework will be due every week during the tutorial.

● Course Evaluation Methods:
Your final grade will be determined by homework (40%) and quizzes (60%).

● Notice for Student:
This course uses the course withdrawal system. It is necessary to submit a Course Withdrawal Request Form when the student has no intention of finishing the course during the semester. The grading scale will be
S: 90-100, A: 80-89, B: 70-79, C: 60-69, F: 0-59.

●Aim of the course
The aim of this course is to provide essential mathematical knowledge necessary to further study mathematics and other sciences at university level. The course is primarily intended for students taking Linear algebra II.

●Prerequisites
While not a formal requirement, Linear Algebra I is strongly recommended.

●Course contents
Linear spaces, orthogonality, orthogonal maps, least squares, determinants and their applications, eigenvalues and eigenvectors, applications of eigenvalue theory.

●Evaluation methods
The assessment of this course coincides with the assessment of the course Linear Algebra II.
Course withdrawal: Any student who does not participate in the final exam will receive the grade “Absent”. It is not necessary to submit a course withdrawal request form.

●Notice for students
1. The reference book is available in the Main library and in the Science library (enough copies in total for all students).
2. It is strongly recommended to register also to Linear algebra II.

●Aim of the course
This class emphasizes the development of fundamental Association Football (Soccer) skills, knowledge of game rules and team tactics of play. The students are expected to deepen their understanding of this game and also to learn how to show good leadership to organize the team and how to maintain their own well-being status throughout this class.

●Prerequisites
The students' success in this class is extremely dependent on their ACTIVE participation and ON TIME attendance. The students are expected come to class ON TIME and READY to participate. The students missing more than FOUR classes for any reason (excused or unexcused) will fail the course. Any students who are disruptive, disrespectful, or not putting their effort into the class will also fail the course or have their attendance/participation grade reduced.

Dress Code and Equipment
Comfortable sportswear and soccer shoes or athletic shoes MUST be worn. If the appropriate attire is not worn to this class, attendance will not be counted. As soccer frequently requires hitting the ball with the head, the use of glasses is prohibited. The students who do not have enough clear eyesight, the use of contact lens is strongly recommended.

Weather Condition
The class will proceed even in rain using indoor facilities.
Please find the notice for students announcing the place changed.

●Course contents
1. An orientation session for incoming freshmen.
2. An orientation session for soccer class.
3. Fundamental skill training & small sided game.
4. Adapted skill training & bigger games.
5. Team offensive & defensive tactics.

●Notice for students
The students MUST attend the first orientation class and BRING your photo (3x4 cm) for incoming freshmen. The details of this course will be explained in the session. The course withdrawal system is available in the course. If students do no submit a Course Withdrawal Request Form by the designated period, their grade is “F”. The students need to submit a Course Withdrawal Request Form to instructor when requesting course withdrawal directly or by any ways to the instructor before the end of 4th class (including the first orientation class). In principle, instructors may not give students a grade of “Absent” without the submission of the Course Withdrawal Request Form. However, in the case of an avoidable reason, such as sickness, accident, or no school attendance, instructor may give a grade of “Absent” based on their judgment.

Academic Japanese (Reading & Writing) V [Kanji 2200]

●Course Aims and Contents

Targets of this course are to have overall knowledge about kanji, and to be able to understand and use 2,200 kanji and kanji vocabulary.

In this course, participants learn about 2,200 kanji and kanji words which are listed by frequency. Students are required to take a kanji test in every lesson (240-640 words with 80 kanji) in order to increase their kanji vocabulary. There is a reading test and a writing test in a kanji test. Kanji reading test is obligatory, kanji writing test is optional. After the kanji test, various topics about kanji (the rule of Japanese kanji pronunciation, the rule of kanji transitive/intransitive verbs and passive/causative forms etc.) are lectured.

●Course Prerequisites

Participants should have already known about 800 kanji.

●Course Evaluation Methods

Attendance: 30%, Participation: 20%, Kanji tests: 50%

●Notice for Students

Students who withdraw from this course must fill out the designated form (Course Withdrawal Request) and submit the form to the instructor in charge by the end of May.
