

Program overview

Undergraduate program

This program offers students an excellent opportunity to explore the rich and complex relations between Japan and other East Asian countries in modern world history and globalizing contemporary society. The curriculum is designed for students to gain a broad perspective on Japanese culture in Asia, with particular emphasis on cultural history, literature, cinema, and other visual culture.

Graduate program

The goal of this program is to educate students who engage interdisciplinary and transnational approaches to exchanges, interactions, and interrelations between Japan and other East Asian countries in their global historical contexts. At the same time, the program is designed for students to cultivate integrated knowledge and analytical research skills in one or more specialized academic discipline such as literary studies, cinema studies, modern history, intellectual thought, and visual culture.
